

TIME TO WAKE UP

POLITICAL NEWS AND NOTES

Rule 18 of those governing the Republican party in the Territory of Hawaii was the cause of great display of eloquence at the usual evening conference at Kubio headquarters last night. The Hawaiians were particularly interested, it being charged that there is a wide difference between the original in English and the Hawaiian version of the rule. The original states that the enrollment books of the precinct clubs may be kept open until 10 o'clock p. m. of the day preceding a club election. The Hawaiian version reads that the enrollment is open until 10 o'clock p. m. of the day preceding the election of club officers.

According to the translation, the enrollment books would not be open until 10 p. m. of the day preceding the election of delegates to conventions. Under the original version, the books are open until the time specified for any club election. Secretary Hakole was instructed to secure a copy of the original and change the translation to coincide.

It had been expected that reports from precinct leaders would be made at the Kubio meeting last night, but the discussion on rule 18 took up all the time of the meeting, and the reports will be received tonight.

"We are not antagonists to the Republican Central Committee," said Lorin Andrews of the Kubio committee this morning, "but the Central Committee has been inactive while our best workers among the Hawaiians and Portuguese have been going over to the Democrats. We are trying to hold the organization together and are doing it through the Kubio headquarters. He is sure of the nomination, and our efforts now are directed to rescuing the party organization from the slough of despond into which the supine Central Committee has permitted it to slip."

"We have been talking over candidates for municipal offices whom we think will be acceptable in the interests of good government," said Chas. Chillingworth this morning, "but we have no intention of presenting a slate to the convention. Let the people decide."

At a meeting of the Democratic Territorial Central Committee last night it was announced that it had called the Democratic nominations for delegates to the county conventions of all the islands for August 30 and the elections for September 7. The date for the local county convention will be set on Monday, when the county committee meets.

The case of C. D. Pringle, who claims that he had been nominated for the presidency of the Democratic club in the first precinct of the Fourth District, and that the sergeant-at-arms had attempted to burn his nomination paper, was presented to the Democratic Central Committee last night. A subcommittee was appointed to investigate.

"Soapbox" Barron announced that he had challenged R. W. Breckons to a debate on the tariff. He did not say that Breckons had accepted. Link McCandless, Democratic candidate for Delegate, called on Governor Frear yesterday to discuss the appointment of election inspectors and the matter of enlarging the voting booths or cutting the precincts. He was of the opinion that it was better to permit the precincts to remain as they are, but to erect larger booths. The Governor promised to consider the matter.

Much interest is being taken in the precinct club nominations tomorrow night in the eighth precinct for the Fourth district. Lorin Andrews, who was "beaten to a frazzle" in this precinct last April before the convention to send delegates to the national convention, is again reported to be active in putting up a ticket. Andrews' enemies, of whom last April there seemed to be at least a couple of hundred, say they will beat him again this fall.

In the third precinct of the fourth district, there is also a revolt against the reappearance of Andrews. This precinct is the scene of the famous "Manoa fight" of two years ago, and Andrews is said to be framing up a ticket there also.

Andrew E. Cox has changed his mind about running for supervisor, and says he does not intend to be a candidate.

SMUGGLERS

not arrive on the Pacific Mailer as scheduled.

Captain Dixon May Drew Fine. Captain Andrew Dixon, master of the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, which vessel is said to have transported the mail sack containing prepared opium to the value of nearly six thousand dollars, may be in line for the assessment of a stiff fine at the instance of the United States authorities at San Francisco, following the receipt of the information that a seizure of dope was made at Honolulu.

The Manchuria, with a large list of passengers and a general cargo for Honolulu and the ports of Asia, is scheduled to depart from San Francisco this afternoon.

That the opium smuggled into this port has been concealed on board the liner for some time is generally conceded by those Federal officials stationed here who have watched the game for many months past.

There is hardly a liner in the Pacific Mail or the Toyo Kisen Kaisha transpacific service that has not yielded its quota of the contraband drug in quantities that have resulted in the levying of a number of heavy fines.

The First Trust Company of Hilo has been appointed administrator of the estate of Edward L. Like, under bond of $500.

Judge Whitney today granted a divorce to Molly Keumi from Vincent Keumi, on the showing of non-support.

PRECINCT MEETING IS WILDLY COLORED

A meeting of Republicans of the fourth precinct, Fourth District, held Tuesday afternoon in the office of John Waterhouse, of Alexander & Baldwin, who is an active Republican of that precinct, was developed by the morning paper today into a "brand new hui of business men," which, the paper declared, is making up a brand new city and county ticket.

As a matter of fact, half of the men mentioned this morning as being at the meeting were not there at all, among them John Wise and Charley Chillingworth.

The most ridiculous part of the report was the statement that Sheriff Jarrett and Deputy Rose were picked out for indorsement in exchange for their support of City Clerk Kalaokalani and Auditor Bicknell.

W. R. Farrington, who, as a member of the precinct, was at the meeting and acted as secretary, said this morning that the Advertiser had made no attempt to verify its story by application to the secretary, although an Advertiser reporter had called on George W. Smith and was told that Mr. Farrington was the secretary of the meeting and would give out any information that was deemed necessary. The subject of the mayor was not mentioned at the meeting. The discussion was centered on a list of delegates to the Territorial and county conventions reported to have originated with C. F. Chillingworth and Geo. A. Davis.

INDIAN CHIEFTAIN IS INSISTING UPON HONESTY POLICY

SIMLA, India, Aug. 1.—A preface of no little interest, written by the Maharajah Scindia himself, is appended to the annual administration report of the Gwalior state, and in it the Maharajah, who is one of the leading native princes of this country, points out that he has endeavored to make the motto "Honesty is the best policy" the ruling principle of the various departments of the state administration.

The Maharajah has words of praise for many of the latter, but in his remarks with regard to the remaining departments he shows that the report is by no means a perfunctory business, for he indulges in some very plain speaking and has some very candid criticisms to offer. As was pointed out recently in these columns, a new type of native chieftain has arisen, and the Maharajah Scindia of Gwalior may be taken as representative of this type.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS AWAKE TO HARD FIGHT PUT UP BY ROOSEVELT

Bull Moosers Are Making a More Desperate Battle Than Expected

By C. S. ALBERT.
(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5.—The leaders and managers of the Regular Republican organization must reckon with the Bull Moose faction. The new movement cannot be brushed aside like a fly. It must be annihilated by complete defeat, or absorbed through kindness and compromise. It cannot be longer denied that the anomalous third party formed by Col. Roosevelt and his aides is going to play a more important part in the coming National campaign than has been heretofore anticipated.

The Bull Moose convention at Chicago was recorded as a farce and written down as a huge joke until after its adjournment. It then developed that the leaders of the new movement were prepared to make a desperate fight. They have formulated elaborate plans and are perfecting organizations in almost every state. They seem to be well supplied with ready cash and are spending it. There was nothing rigidly or parsimonious about the convention. It was well oiled with funds and the most made of every situation.

Republicans May Lose. The pre-convention impression was that Col. Roosevelt would draw strength in about equal degrees from the Democratic and Republican parties. It has since become apparent that the Republicans will suffer more material losses than the Democrats. Nearly all the recruits will come from the old party, of which the Colonel was so long the head. This must of necessity prove advantageous to the Democrats as they will profit by the civil war within the ranks of the Republican party.

The Regular Republicans are not in a position to survive many defections from their voting strength. The outlook for success at the polls was none too good before Col. Roosevelt and his Bull Moosers got in real action.

It is believed by friends of the President that Col. Roosevelt will be well satisfied if he can accomplish the defeat of Mr. Taft. In so doing he will achieve personal revenge for any and all real or imaginary slights. He will also place it on his string as a triumph.

Taft Shows Fighting Spirit. As for himself, Mr. Taft will go on fighting. He declared before the Republican convention met that he would not withdraw as a candidate if assured of but one vote for re-nomination. The same spirit still prevails.

He proposes to make the best contest possible along strict Republican lines and leave the people to decide. He can only be beaten by the defection of Republican votes. If these are not offset by a virtually equal number from the Democratic party he must suffer overthrow in November.

The good effects of Mr. Taft's speech in response to notification of his selection as standard-bearer continue to spread and become more self-evident. His utterances have been received with much pleasure by the rank and file of the party, many of whom were inclined to sulk and disapprove many things done by the President during the past three years. A large proportion of the disaffected ones are coming back into camp, and the final outcome of the autumn election will depend on the number Col. Roosevelt is able to coax into his new organization.

The undeniable fact that a large majority of the women favor Colonel Roosevelt may have something to do with the campaign before it is concluded. While the women are not permitted to vote except in a few smaller States, their influence over the men in political matters is proverbial. It is easily realized that they may accomplish much by persuading husbands, fathers, brothers and sons to espouse the Bull Moose movement. This element of uncertainty is another feature that contributes to the puzzling features of the new third party and makes it a difficult matter to approximately gauge its voting strength.

On the day following President Taft's speech of acceptance there was a general air of optimism around the White House. The outlook was regarded as more hopeful than for many weeks. The spirited speech of acceptance toward this optimism. The President himself took a more hopeful view. He found upon his desk several hundred telegrams from all parts of the country congratulating him on his splendid speech and suggesting that prospects are brightening.

Wilson Staying at Home. Governor Wilson has followed the example set by Mr. Taft in declaring he will not become a prominent figure on the stump during the campaign.

He did not go as far as the President, merely announcing that his stumping tour will be limited to debatable States. In outlining his attitude the Governor said:

"I will not stump the country. I have definitely determined upon that. I anticipate that I will make a few speeches during the campaign at times and places considered desirable by the campaign committee and myself. I assume that the speaking campaign, not necessarily mine, but that of the organization, will begin about September 1."

WOULD EXTEND OIL PIPE LINES TO ALL WHARVES

The regulations for handling the Territory's fuel oil pipe line along the waterfront which was introduced at the meeting of the board of harbor commissioners yesterday by James Wakefield has not been adopted, and it is by no means certain that they will be placed in force.

Copies of the proposed rules have been handed to the representatives of the various oil companies and the subject is to receive further consideration at some later date.

Harold Dillingham, representing the Union Oil Company, objected to the clause which stipulates that no company shall be permitted to use the line unless it is capable of supplying such oil to steamers at the rate of 1,000 barrels per hour. He said that eliminated competition, giving virtual control of the pipe line to the Associated Oil Company.

Chairman Marston Campbell's solution is that the Associated Oil Company be given the use of the proposed 10-inch pipe line, and that the Inter-Island Steam Navigation and the Hawaiian Electric Company be ordered to extend its 6-inch pipe line to all Territorial wharves, to be used by other oil companies who may require it.

It appears that license for laying the present 6-inch pipe line was granted by the government with the provision that it must be extended by the owners to such other wharves as might be specified by the government in future.

day evening entertainments given in the Post Hall. While a proper enthusiasm and applause is right, it is not necessary to whistle nor yell nor to indulge in other unnecessary boisterous conduct which is sometimes indulged in by some of the annoyance of the large majority who wish to enjoy the entertainments.

"The Commanding Officer hopes that this warning will be sufficient and that it will not be necessary to resort to more stringent resources."

NICARAGUA OUTRAGE

Nicaragua and a discussion by the cabinet. From the Navy Department there came an order placing Rear Admiral W. H. H. Southerland, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, in command of the American forces. The cruiser California is his flagship. Marines are being rushed to the scene, and within a short time American troops will pour into the country.

Circuit Judge Whitney has revised the divorce decree separating M. S. Dutra from Elizabeth Dutra, and now gives the father custody of the minor children, Marguerite and Beron the stump during the campaign.

MACOMB URGES BETTER COALING FACILITIES

While the federal government is not increasing its wharfing space in Honolulu harbor at present, the military department has realized the need of greater facilities, especially for the loading and unloading of coal here, and the attention of the board of harbor commissioners was brought to this matter by a communication from Brigadier-General Macomb, submitted to the board by Governor Frear.

In his letter to the Governor General Macomb gives the inference that occasion may arise when facilities for handling big coal cargoes will be urgent, although most of the fuel used in the merchant service now is oil. He urges that at least one dock should be constructed by the Territory with a platform, outside the shed having a width of at least thirty feet to permit the handling of coal to or from a big ship.

So far this need has not been impressed on the commissioners, as about the only big sevels using coal for fuel are the army and navy ships, which have their own dock, equipped for that duty. Large merchant vessels of the coal burning class may be expected at this port however, following the opening of Panama Canal, when a Territorial dock as suggested by General Macomb would prove highly desirable.

BANQUET SPEAKERS TO TALK BY PHONOGRAPH

NEW YORK, August 20.—Several novel features are being planned for the eighth annual conference of applied chemistry, which will meet here next month. Each speaker will stand under a hoodlike apparatus, which will record each word he says permanently on a phonograph cylinder. At the annual banquet each of the many small tables will be equipped with a partly concealed telephone receiver. The toastmaster and those who respond to toasts, instead of trying to talk loudly enough to reach every part of the room, will talk into a microphone and their words will be reproduced at each table.

Another new thing will be the presentation of each member at the beginning of the meetings of twenty printed volumes containing the "proceedings" of the congress. Every paper that is to be read, every formal speech that is to be delivered, will be in these volumes.

Still another feature is to be the printing of a daily newspaper of the congress in the four official languages.
